

SYNOPSIS

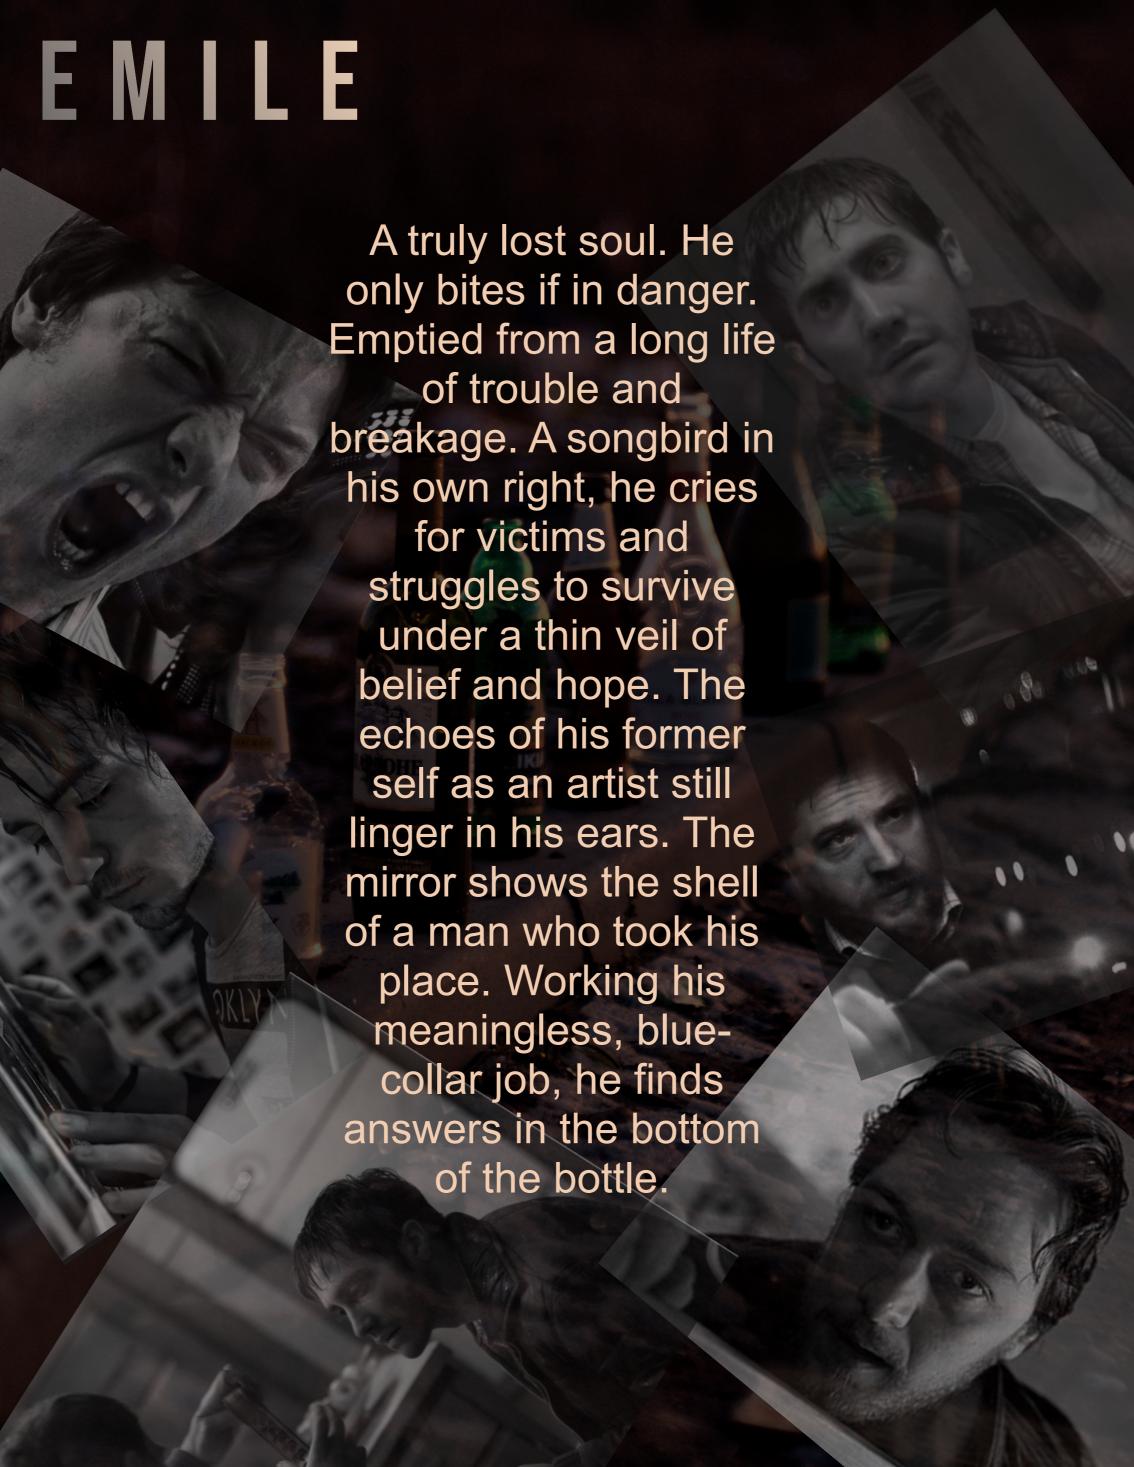

Three best friends, Nick, a writer and a simple man, Donny, the charismatic, wealthy one, and Emile, the artist with a bleeding heart, still reside in the small town they grew up in. As their ten-year high school reunion approaches, a dark secret from their past returns to haunt them. The three friends struggle to cope with reality as the darkness from their past threatens to destroy their friendship, and along with it, their sanity.

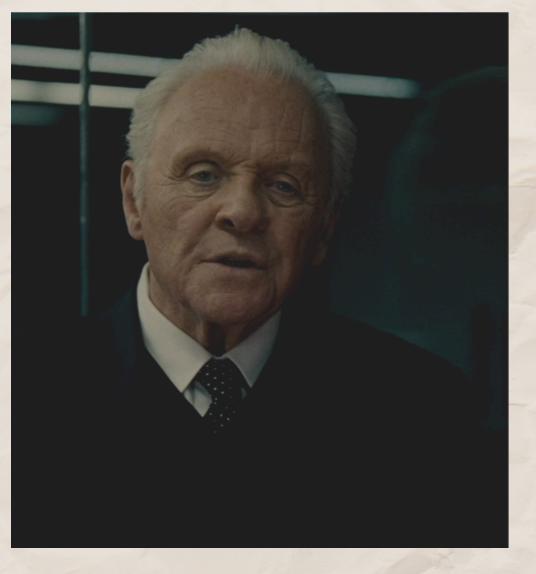

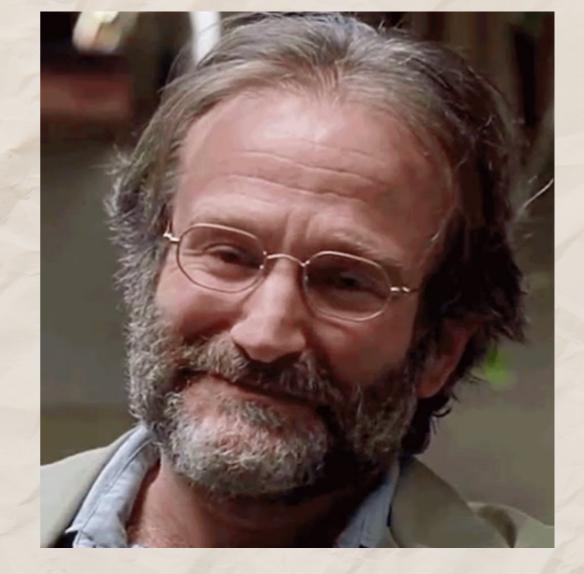

NICK

A kind man on the verge of a breakdown. Gripping onto reality but against a weak heart. A writer, whose hands click and clack. He moves with grace as his mind tries to move forward, but his past won't let him. A simple person who yearns for his self-promised new life that he may never obtain.

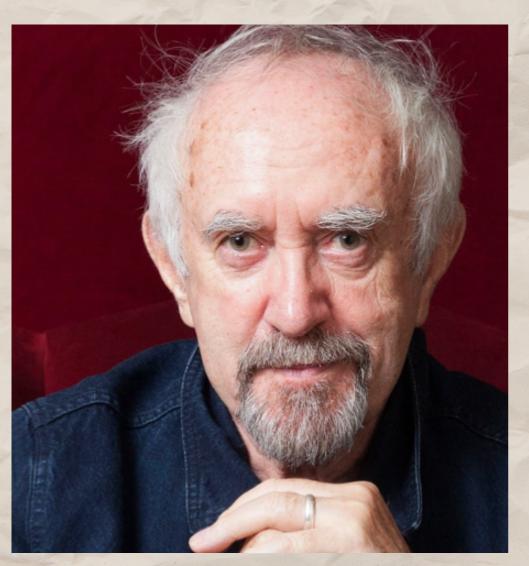

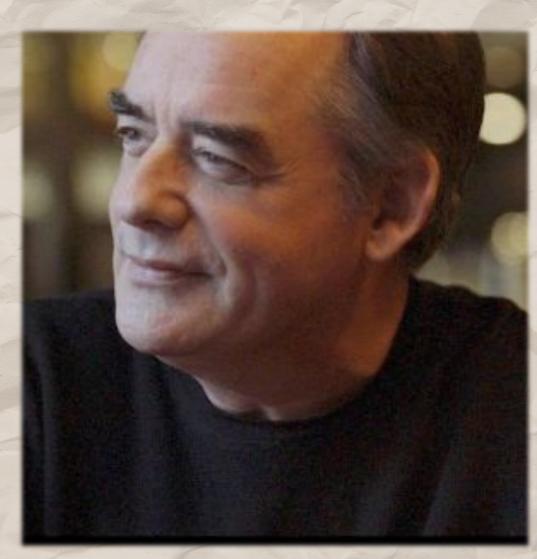

DR. WALTER CAPLAN

He calmly grabs the sides of his chair and sits, exhaling the sighs of his patients. A safe place for weary souls. Wisdom, stamped on his forehead like the binding of a book. A wealth of knowledge and a fountain of peace. Tired travelers of life find comfort in his arms.

JESSICA

Innocent and kind, laughs and bros down with the guys. The kind of girl every guy falls in love with. The girl they all want to save, the one that wears her brokenness like a band-aid. And yet, she's never to be underestimated. Never to be broken. Never to be forgotten. Always searching, a wounded bird without much defense in the world... except for her intelligence.

A nurse to her patients and a supporter for Nick. Her willpower shows no bounds. A flower in a garden with no visitors. She gleams with a light but only to be accidentally snuffed out. She will always be a shoulder to lean on.
